Engine Room Art Space, a recently opened art gallery in downtown Hagerstown, is announcing its fifth monthly exhibit set to open October 9th. "Edge of Appalachia" features three artists from different areas, all part of the large region called Appalachia, of which Hagerstown happens to be right on the edge. Collage artist Ashley Hoffman, painter Mindy Sizemore and blacksmith Lucas Warner represent a new generation of Appalachian visual artists determined to control their own voices, to celebrate the land that formed their identity and raise awareness to issues that affect under-served Appalachia.

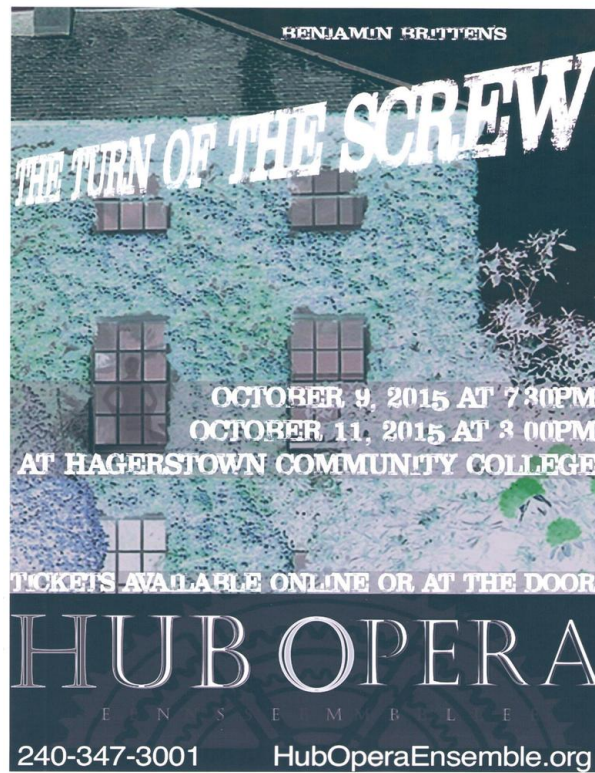

"Ferns and Fiddleheads" by Lucas Warner

The reception for "Edge of Appalachia" will occur at the gallery Friday, October 9th from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. The artists will be present for discussion of their artwork and refreshments will be served.

Keep up with Engine Room's happenings by liking us on Facebook, following our Instagram, or visiting our website. Any questions can be sent to the gallery coordinator at ejones@hagerstownmd.org or (240) 520 - 1407.

11/07/2015--Start Time: 7:30pm--End Time: 9:00pm

Shepherdstown WV's Friends of Music organization will launch its 2015-2016 performance season with a concert by the Two Rivers Chamber Orchestra on Saturday, November 7. Three works will be featured: * "Last Round," a piece for double string quartet and bass by Argentine composer Osvaldo Golijov, one of the most sought after modern composers; * Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto in E Minor, Op. 64, with violinist Jorge Àvila; * Beethoven's Symphony No.1 in C Major, Op. 21.
